The Rev. J. E. Grammer, W. P. Paddock and R. C. Matlack were appointed as the committee of endowments of scholarships, with power to increase their number. The president, Rev. George A. Smith, was requested to sit for a photographic picture, the same to be handsomely framed and hung in some appropriate place in the Seminary building.

At the meeting of the board of trustees of the Seminary steps were taken for putting the library and other buildings in thorough repair and for supplying accommodations to the probably increased number of students next session. An appropriation of $1,000 was made for sinking a new well and furnishing the Seminary premises with a pure supply of water. Mr. Edmund I. Lee, of Shepherdstown, W. EXPLANATION.—The light house keeper at Fort Washington says, in reference to the report of his rescue of a lady and two gentlemen last Friday, that he told the men that it would be best for them to return to Washington, and he had them conveyed in a rowboat to River View, where they took a steamer. They gave their names as Montgomery and Wilson. Their excuse for not paying the doctor's bill was that they did not have any money. The lady was found floating beneath the sail of the overturned boat, and the air held by the sail probably saved her life.

Perhaps no local disease has puzzled and baffled the medical profession more than nasal catarrh. While not immediately fatal it is among the most distressing, nauseous and disgusting ills the flesh is heir to, and the records show very few or no cases of radical cures of chronic catarrh by any of the multitude of modes of treatment until the introduction of Ely's Cream Balm a few years ago. The success of this preparation has been most gratifying and surprising.
